A Message from Fr. Joseph Fessio, S.J.

We're back!

Ignatius Book Club for Schools is relaunching after a pause for the Covid pandemic.

We are all aware of the problem: children and schools are being preyed on by teachers, administrators, and school boards that have been infected by something more dangerous and more contagious than SARS-CoV-2, the woke culture. Gender affirmation, drag queen storytelling events, we've had enough. And we have a solution.

We are bringing back immediately our Ignatius Book Fairs for schools. And we're now partnering with Ave Maria University to do so. Our website, www.ignatiusbookclub.com is back up and we are building it out day by day. Check it out now if you'd like to have the school your children are attending schedule a book fair with solid, wholesome, interesting books that will not only encourage young people to read good books but nourish their Catholic faith as well.

We are in the process of expanding the book fairs into book clubs as well, where teachers and parents can purchase from our catalogue of over 700 children's titles and also earn money for their class and school.

The legacy of Pope Benedict XVI

Pope Benedict XVI, born on the vigil of Easter in 1927, died on the vigil of Mary, Mother of God, December 31st, 2022. Two days later was the feast of Saint Basil of Caesarea and Saint Gregory Nazianzen. These two great Saints, Fathers, and Doctors of the church, along with Basil's brother, Saint Gregory of Nyssa another Saint, Father, Doctor of the Church were the three stalwarts of the faith who defended the Faith during the Arian heresy of the 4th century in which over half of the bishops succumbed to Arianism.

I believe sometime in the not distant future, Pope Benedict and his friends and mentors, Henri de Lubac S.J. and Hans Urs Von Balthasar will be another trio of Saints and Doctors of the modern Church. Their writings, most of which we publish, will nourish the faith of Catholic for years to come. So...

Don't miss our two latest titles from Pope Benedict: The Divine Project and What is Christianity? The Last Writings. Also, if you haven't read it yet, you will want to: our tribute volume: Benedict XVI: Servant of Love. This book is a brief biography along with selections from Pope Benedict on important themes, accompanied by beautiful pictures from his youngest days until his final days as Pope.

“Robert Sarah, Africa’s leonine cardinal, argues that Benedict XVI is by his teaching and his example, the Father of the Church of the third millennium. He believes that Benedict is a saint, a Church Doctor and someone who future generations will call Benedict the Great. In defending this thesis Cardinal Sarah offers precious insights into the spirituality of Benedict that could only be gleaned by someone who was privileged to work closely with him.”

He Gave Us So Much E A Tribute to Benedict XVI

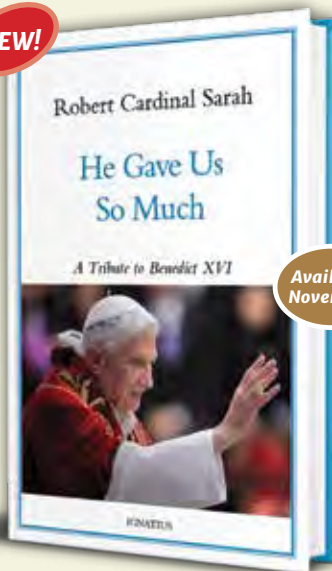

Robert Cardinal Sarah

In his introduction, Cardinal Sarah describes why he wrote this moving tribute to Benedict XVI:

“My purpose in writing this book was to reveal the power of his teaching, for Benedict XVI was a spiritual master. I think that his very precise and profound theological thought is rooted in an authentic mystical and spiritual experience. Therefore, you will find in this book a general idea of the soul of Joseph Ratzinger. I tried to recall the times when, furtively, he opened up the secret recesses of his heart.

“These moments outline an original path to God. They compose the portrait of a saint. They invite us to follow him. To this I added various texts that I had published over the years. I revised, expanded and updated them. In them you may discover an unexpected, unknown Benedict XVI. In them you perceive the coherence of the immense treasure that he left to us. You sense that his teaching and his example are a continent, still unexplored, where the Church will be able to find nourishment for a long time.

“Finally, I wished to offer to the reader several texts by Benedict XVI that accompany him on an itinerary, for he was and remains a shepherd of souls. In many cases these are forgotten, little-known texts that invite us to set out with him on a path toward God.”

What Is Christianity? E The Last Writings | Benedict XVI

After Pope Emeritus Benedict XVI resigned from the papacy in 2013, he never stopped thinking or writing. Near the end of his life, he and editor Elio Guerriero gathered together a whole volume of new material. The pope asked that it be published upon his death.

This final work is What Is Christianity? It takes up a kaleidoscopic array of themes: the Christian faith’s relationship with other religions, especially Judaism and Islam; the theology and reform of the liturgy; the priesthood; the saints; the Eucharist; the travesty of abuse; the beauty of nature; Italian and German culture; and much more.

A lifelong Catholic, the late pope pays

That Was Father Stu ^E A Memoir of My Priestly Brother and Friend

Fr. Bart Tolleson
Foreword by Archbishop
George Leo Thomas

This inspiring, insightful, and often humorous look at the life of Father Stuart Long is told by his close friend Father Bart Tolleson. After their relationship began and almost ended with a practical joke, the two men were ordained together and forged a strong, lasting friendship. As the exuberant, edgy Father Stu confronted a rare degenerative disease, the former brawler and professional boxer used every ounce of his declining strength to fight the good fight for souls.

Also included in this book is the enduring legacy of Father Stu, whose moving story continues to draw people closer

Science at the Doorstep to God ^E

Science and Reason in Support of God, the Soul, and Life after Death

Fr. Robert J. Spitzer, S.J., Ph.D.

Today, there is more science-based evidence for God, the soul, and life after death than ever before. Then why are scores of people turning to unbelief because of “science”? The answer is simple: they do not know the science.

Science at the Doorstep to God presents in depth the latest evidence to turn the rising tide of unbelief. Father Robert Spitzer, S.J., synthesizes eight recent studies confirming an intelligent creator of physical reality as well as a transphysical soul capable of surviving bodily death.

This is the most comprehensive scientific treatment of God and the afterlife to date. It combines natural scientific method, metaphysical method, medical studies, anthropological and genetics studies, and phenomenological descriptions, showing how each distinct method and data set reinforces the others.

It is critical for the Church to learn and share the fruits of this research and again to demonstrate the profound complementarity between the Catholic faith and science. Through reason, we can come to see not only the great intelligence of the Creator, but also signs of his love, goodness, and glory.

Live-Giving Wounds E

A Catholic Guide to Healing for Adult Children of Divorce or Separation

Dr. Daniel and Bethany Meola

The Meolas draw from their personal experience, theological formation, academic research, and especially their work of accompanying hundreds of men and women from broken homes to provide a spiritually rich and psychologically sound pathway toward healing for all those whose parents are no longer together, and who are seeking faith-based, reliable guidance for the unique challenges they face.

For readers who are not adult children of divorce or separation themselves but who love someone who is, this book will provide new depths of understanding about the wounds divorce can cause for children, into adulthood, so that all who love adult children of divorce can better understand them, receive their wounds, and help them heal.

In many ways, parental divorce is a lifelong wound for children, but it does not need to mean lifelong misery. With compassion, truthfulness, and deep faith in God's everlasting love, this book gives all those from broken homes the focused attention that their unique wounds deserve, and a trustworthy pathway towards healing, wholeness, and the abundant life Christ promises.

A Catholic Neurosurgeon's Guide to the End of Life

Dr. Stephen Doran

Dr. Stephen Doran draws from his vast

The spiritual and moral issues related to death and the process of dying can be challenging and complicated. To Die Well provides a detailed yet readily understandable guide to these topics.

Each chapter begins with a story from Dr. Doran's personal or professional life that not only provides context for the topic at hand but also gently draws the reader toward the personal realities of dying. The first part focuses on the moral issues that surround death and dying, including end-of-life medical decisions. The second part is devoted to the Catholic spiritual understanding of dying and the rites that accompany the death of a Catholic.

Deacon Harold Burke-Sivers

This book is a Catholic Christian response to the epidemic of racism, firmly rooted in the Scriptures, the natural law, the Church's Tradition, and our identity as children of God.

But what is racism? Is it just “prejudice”? Deacon Harold Burke-Sivers carefully distinguishes the sin of racism from the kind of instinctive bias that marks all fallen mankind, in order to help us find a path to deeper unity.

Building a Civilization of Love takes an honest look at Critical Race Theory, Liberation Theology, and the Black Lives Matter Movement, weighing their merits. Burke-Sivers asks in

The Dazzling Light of God A Madeleine Delbrêl Reader E

"Everything is so beautiful when we look at it with a little love," wrote the French social worker and poet Madeleine Delbrêl (1904–1964), whom the Vatican named Venerable in 2018.

Through the convulsions of the twentieth century, she made her home in one of the most brutal towns of Europe—the Communist-run Parisian suburb of Ivry. But to her shock, she saw the dazzling light of God everywhere she looked. Gathered in this book are buds of wisdom from across the writings of Madeleine Delbrêl, who believed that Christian joy is possible—indeed necessary—in the bleakest settings. God can never abandon the world he loves. "We, the ordinary people of the streets, believe with all our might that this street, that this world where God has placed us, is, for us, the site of our holiness."

Delbrêl's luminous reflections on Christ, man, and everyday life tap into the depths of divine mystery yet shine with the simplicity of a child. If we read them carefully, we might finally become the saints we're called to be.

Genesis A Bible Study Guide and Commentary E

NEW!

Stephen
K. Ray

Everything in the Bible—and in the Catholic Church—starts with the Book of Genesis. The Greek word genesis means "beginning", and this inspired text reveals to us not only our origins, but our purpose, our meaning, and God's plan for mankind.

Yet Genesis can be daunting, especially given the scientific discoveries of the last few centuries. Stephen K. Ray, author of Crossing the Tiber, breaks down this sacred and profoundly influential book, wrestling with the complex intersection of history and theology. Thoroughly Catholic in his approach, Ray is unafraid to draw from sources of all kinds: from Jewish and Protestant commentaries, from archaeology, from geography, and even from modern literature.

This work uncovers the excitement and drama of this ancient narrative, so often ignored or misunderstood. In Ray's reading, the Book of Genesis is a shout of joy: "We can know where we came from! We can know who we are! We can know our destiny! And we are not alone in the universe!"

Dom Pierre-Célestin Lu, O.S.B. (Lu Zhenxiang)
Introduction and notes by Joshua R. Brown, Ph.D.

Through the tumultuous late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries, Lu Zhengxiang—a devoted disciple of both Confucius and Christ—served his native China as a leading diplomat and statesman for more than thirty years. He entered the Catholic Church in 1911 and became a Benedictine monk in 1927.

In 1942, during the German occupation of Belgium, the elderly monk, now known as Abbot Pierre-Célestin Lu, O.S.B., answered a divine call

Exogenesis E

Peco Gaskovski

Out of the collapse of Old America rises Lantua, a glittering thousand-mile metropolis where drones patrol the sky and AI algorithms reward social behavior. The most compliant citizens enjoy the greatest privileges, the poorest struggle to rise up the echelon system, and criminals are subjected to brain modification. Birthing and genetic quality are controlled through mass embryonic selection, with fetuses grown outside the body in artificial wombs—a technology known as exogenesis.

But rebellion is brewing.

Lantua struggles to control the Benedites, a rural religious people who refuse to obey one-child regulations. Each February, Field Commander Maelin Kivela oversees the forced sterilization of Benedite teenagers, a duty she carries out with unflinching zeal—but this year comes with a shock. After escaping an ambush by insurgents, Maelin returns to the city to choose one of over three hundred embryos to be her child, only to come face to face with a secret that will tear her life apart and alter the course of her civilization.

The Lord

Romano Guardini

Introduction by Benedict XVI

This classic work is the most complete and in-depth telling of the life of Christ—his life and times, in historical context, but not lacking the psychology behind his physical being and spirit. Unlike other books seeking to strip Jesus' story to reveal only the human being, Romano Guardini's The Lord gives the complete story of Jesus Christ—as man, and as God. Pope Benedict XVI lauds Guardini's work as providing a full understanding of the Son of God, away from the prejudice that rationality engenders. Put long-held myths aside and discover the entire truth about God's only begotten Son.

Pondering the Permanent Things ^E

Thomas Howard
Foreword by Peter Kreeft
Compiled by Keith Call

According to the late Professor Thomas Howard, the poet and the prophet both speak a loud voice against the tide of secularism and eventual destruction. Yet how does this work? How does myth convey truth? How does architecture reflect eternal verities? How does the written word humanize and sanctify us? What treasure and stability does an ancient faith hold for the unsettled modern mind?

Howard spent his life answering these questions. Christians of all walks of life will appreciate his witty, devout, and cutting observations on faith, art, and the incarnation of Christ. In this volume, readers will also encounter beloved teachers, writers, and friends who influenced Howard's theological imagination, including C. S. Lewis and T. S. Eliot.

The Good, the Bad, and the Beautiful ^E History in Three Dimensions

Joseph Pearce

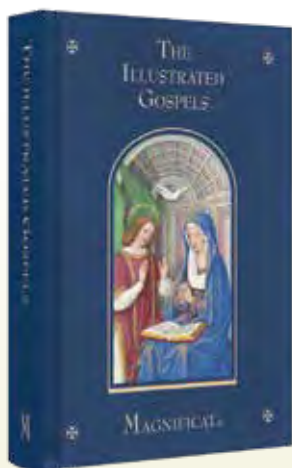

At the heart of all healthy societies and cultures is the presence of the good, the true and the beautiful. This triune presence is perfected in the person of Christ who is “the Way, the Truth and the Life”, and thus, we can see the very pattern of history as a tapestry of varying threads which are good, bad or beautiful.

These threads reflect the three facets of man, who manifests himself in life and in history as homo viator, homo superbus and anthropos. The three threads weave their way through the hearts of each and every person, forming the tapestry which reveals the pattern of our individual lives.

No one has seen this three-dimensional pattern in the tapestry of history more clearly than Benedict XVI. Inspired by this understanding of history by Pope Benedict, Joseph Pearce presents the history of the past two millennia.

The New Relativism

Unmasking the Philosophy of Today's Woke Moralists

Karlo Broussard

Do you remember when relativism was the nemesis of Christians and all people of right reason? This idea that “you have your truth and I have mine” was so pervasive and insidious that Pope Benedict XVI warned it was a “dictatorship” that threatened all our freedoms.

Then, seemingly overnight, we’re being told that it’s not a problem anymore. Why? Because in today’s “woke” world, most people are now moralists, not relativists. They impose a litany of new, seemingly absolute “commandments” to make sure we’re never racist, sexist, judgmental, bigoted, “anti-science,” or a host of other deplorable things. So, relativism must be dead; yesterday’s news.

Not so fast, says Karlo Broussard in The New Relativism. The dictatorship of relativism isn’t dead; it’s just hiding—behind the mask of woke moralism. Scratch these modern commandments we’re supposed to live by, and lurking underneath you’ll find the same basic errors of relativism: mutated into new forms, perhaps, but no less dangerous to our world and our faith.

The Divine Project E

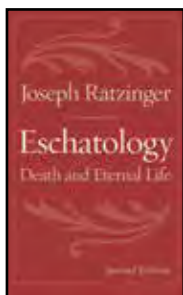

Reflections on Creation and the Church

Joseph Ratzinger (Benedict XVI)

It took nearly thirty years for a forgotten box of cassette tapes, mislaid in an abbey in Austria, to be brought to light. On these tapes, recorded in 1985, the voice of Joseph Ratzinger (Pope Benedict XVI) walks his listeners through the thick terrain of contemporary theology. Now, after decades, these lectures have been dusted off, transcribed, and published.

The Divine Project is a study of God the Creator and of man as this Creator's masterpiece. "Ratzinger", as Professor Matthew Levering writes, "guides us through the most difficult domains of modern theology and modern life."

Christopher, the Holy Giant | Tomie dePaola

"A long time ago, in the land of Canaan, there lived a giant known as Reprobis. Because he was so big and strong, Reprobis wished to serve the greatest and most powerful king in all the world. So he set off to find him . . ." For hundreds of years Catholics honored Christopher as the patron saint of travelers. But when he came to be seen as more mythical than historical, the Church discouraged devotion to him. Wanting to preserve the legend of the giant who carried the Christ Child, Tomie dePaola retold and illustrated the story in this captivating book.

Confession of a Catholic Worker ^E

Our Current Moment of Christian Witness

Larry S. Chapp

Using the theology of Hans Urs von Balthasar, Peter Maurin, and Dorothy Day, Chapp argues that the real remedy to the disease of sin is not niceness, not political liberation, not fancy liturgical dress, not technical rigor, but a free decision to live totally and joyfully in Jesus Christ, without compromise.

Adam and Eve after the Pill, Revised ^E

Mary Eberstadt • Foreword by Cardinal George Pell

With unflinching logic, Eberstadt summarizes the toll on Western society of today's fractured homes, feral children, and social isolates. Empathetic yet precise, she connects the dots between shrinking, broken families and rising sexual confusion, seen most recently in transgenderism and related phenomena. The result is an indictment of the turn taken by much of the world following the post-1960s embrace of contraception and the stigmatization of traditional morality.

An Introduction to Vatican II as an Ongoing Theological Event

Matthew Levering

Contemporary scholars often refer to “the event of Vatican II,” but what kind of an event was it? Matthew Levering leads his readers to see the Council as a “theological event”—a period of confirming and continuing God’s self-revelation in Christ into a new historical era for the Church. A Catholic Critique of Racism and Critical Race Theory

Edward Feser

All One in Christ lucidly explains the Church's clear and consistent condemnation of racism, showing that the condemnation is not a recent development but deeply rooted in centuries of papal teaching and Scholastic theology.

This book also demonstrates that Critical Race Theory, far from being a remedy for racism, is, in fact, a new and insidious form of racism that cannot be reconciled with the social teaching of the Church and the call of Christ. Edward Feser exhorts Catholics to oppose Critical Race Theory—precisely because they are opposed to racial injustice. They must reaffirm that all human beings are rational creatures capable of knowledge and charity and redemption from sin through grace.

G.K. Chesterton

Introduction by Dale Ahlquist
